"Traveling in style is no easy job!"

Véronique woke up that morning with an urge for adventure. With her annual vacation fast approaching, she decided that it was high time to pack up and go, but where to she asked herself? What glamorous, high fashion venue would suit her taste for luxury this time? The answer was simple: a cruise on one of the world's most famous liners would be all she'd need to forget the tribulations of her high profile career!

Full in the knowledge that a pleasant, uneventful trip always begins with proper packing, Véronique carefully instructed her personal assistant to make sure she would have everything a lady of her status needs to be at her best at any given moment, anywhere in the world. Soon after, with some of the most fashionable luggage in the world in tow, Véronique Perrin could set sail for another one of her inspirational trips around the globe!

Via Veneto
Adèle Makéda®

"The perfect look with a Roman twist!"

She left the airport in a rush, she knew she shouldn't have had that second night cap at the previous night's pre-shoot party... And now if only the driver would go a little faster, there could still be time for her to arrive on the set for 10 a.m. as Véronique's photographer had planned.

Adèle was looking forward to this photo shoot, what more could a world famous model like her ask from an assignment like this one? Gorgeous Italian male models escorting her everywhere around town, some of the best shopping in Italy on the world famous Via Veneto... It would be all in a day's work! She was getting more and more excited about the whole affair as she finally arrived, much to everyone's relief. Her energy went sky high as soon as she started posing for the camera. Shooting on location, with fans wooing all over the place can sure pick a frazzled diva's mood right up!

"A taste of French reality in the heart of New York"

Perhaps it was the French woman in her or was it just a tad of homesickness? No, it was definitely the need to be surrounded by the New York fashion clique! Véronique showed up at the bar with Adèle with a broad smile on her face, she had just signed the biggest licensing contract of her career, an agreement that would secure W's place on the American market for years to come and now was the perfect time to celebrate. This trip had been perfect not a single cloud on the horizon. Then suddenly, everything changed, suddenly everyone went quiet apprehensive of the imminent storm brewing in the air: Kyori Sato walked in right after the two socialites.

Always trying to grab attention and casting her usual shadow on everyone, Kyori made it clear that she had arrived. She was there to meet with a woman Véronique had never seen before, a strangely exotic, angry looking figure. What was her nemesis plotting? Today's celebration suddenly became bitter and filled with suspicion, Véronique couldn't help but wonder why Kyori wasn't escorted by her usual travel companion, business rival Perry Marino, CEO of Missima cosmetics. Her instincts were telling her that this trip to New York would soon reveal something she wouldn't like.
